Hello,

I'm looking for technical product and engineering leadership roles with full ownership. I'm a U.S. citizen and don't need sponsorship.

I love talking with customers and solving their problems. I'm direct and opinionated: I'll say what I think, push on the hard questions, and help a team pick a direction and ship. I've led and built for 15+ years, and I still get in the code. Right now I'm fractional CTO at Tripplo, a logistics startup where I've done everything from full-stack software development and product leadership to fundraising.

I'd love to chat with cool people working on interesting problems.

Thanks, Nate
